>>> The Empty Hanger

THURSDAY 21 OCTOBER 11.00 AM – 12.00 PM

From fig leaves to dreamcoats, the Bible vividly describes its main characters – and their clothes. The Empty Hanger is a new schools resource exploring identity and faith through fashion.

Presented by REV. JOANNA JEPSON, chaplain to London College of Fashion, The Empty Hanger offers a fantastic new resource pack for schools, combining Clothing, Art and Design, Personal Development and RE. Joanna Jepson uses costumes designed by students at the London College of Fashion to explore 5 contemporary topics through the lives of Eve (pictured), Jacob, Joseph, Rahab, and Jesus. From environmental sustainability and consumerism to life goals and identity, this interactive presentation encourages secondary students to think about big issues through the clothes we wear and the stories these tell. All inspired through a project to look at the context of Jesus' own family tree. In the live morning presentation, Joanna will be working with a group of local students to examine the 5 costumes, and challenging them to come up with a final costume to place on their own 'empty hanger'. In the afternoon, Joanna will be re-representing the session in the main exhibition area, highlighting ways in which you could use the project in your own context. The Empty Hanger can be used across the curriculum, providing an ideal opportunity for your church to partner with a local school. A must-see for anybody seeking a memorable 'Bible Experience' project as part of Biblefresh in 2011.

| TITLE | Managing Your Time |
| CONTENT | Do you feel stressed or overwhelmed, or just know that you are not in control? When people attend time management courses they say how hard it is to balance their life between work and home. As Christians we must find time for a relationship with God, ensure the family comes before work; excel at work to be a good witness and to still have time to be involved in the life of the church. This workshop shows it is possible to do this when you take control and manage your time as opposed to being managed by time! |
